Referencing a Half Century (looking back)

Normally, my attitude is to look forward, not back, but thinking that you have probably never spent much time visiting my website here is a quick chronology of my earliest artwork. Some who know my recent work, may be unfamiliar with these works that preceded it. For me, it is a chance to review and catalog a life devoted to making art. Below is an overview in a dozen pictures that outlines my eclectic interests from 1964 to 1994. (most of these never made it to my webpage archive) The subsequent 20 years, from 1995 to today, in many ways were formed from the experiences of these earlier years.
